I have been following your for a while and I am reaching out about my mom.
July 2023 her primary doctor advised her to get a biopsy. Instead she quit work, start eating healthy, quit sugar started getting more sunshine, more sun. I have attached her breast pic from a year ago. She does not trust doctors in the US. Her regular blood and other tests were fine.
She also start drinking black seed oil and lamp oil every day. ( herbal doctor advice )

Today, one year later, I check on her and saw her breast lump got bigger and has a small dark mark. I want her to get this resolved already. Just got ivermectin and feben. What would you recommend? She needs to make a decision on what to do next, to follow her doctors advice and get a biopsy or start a protocol with these to pills which we don't know what kind of protocol.

Pic from july 2023 and aug 2024 attached.
Any kind of help is greatly appreciated. 🙏
I can also talk on the phone if it's easier

Thank you

Doc,

My mother has been taking fenben 444/day for 10 days and all the other supplements. Ivermectin just arrived today.

The oncologist saw her today and ordered an urgent biopsy scheduled for tomorrow after a ultrasound. Her breast mass changed and her mass grew and it's visible. He stopped letrozol and Ibrance. We suspect ibrance caused it. It has been changing for 2-3 weeks. 3 weeks from the day she started ibrance.

I am not sure if biopsy is a good idea. Please find attached a picture of her breast now. Please let me know your thoughts. You can also call me if you'd like @ [REDACTED]

Thank you

Dr Makis,

I hope you are doing well. I want to touchbase since our last zoom call on Feb 1st when my mother was in a different spot. The mass in her breast grew to 8x7 from 7x5 within 2 weeks and her breast was ready to burst.

She had 6 rounds of chemo along with 120/day mg ivermectin and 1000/day meben (3 months now) and the oncologist measured it today to only 3.5x2.7. He is so impressed with her treatment (not aware of the ivermectin and mebendazole). Her tumor markings are attached for your review.

She is currently out of mebendazole as the order from both sources has been delayed. Would you recommend her to keep taking only ivermectin or use fenbendazole instead which we have in possession. (if so please advise dosage).

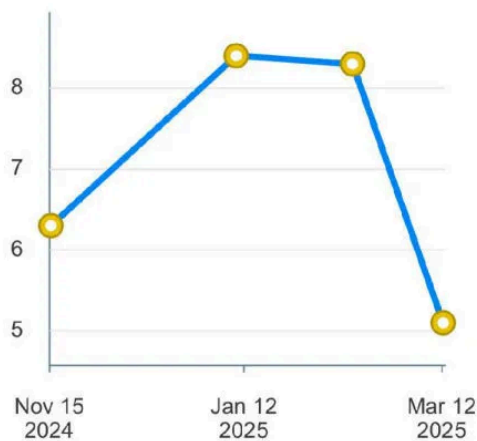

We are grateful to you for your advice and support. We hope and believe she will make the mass on her breast disappear completely.

I follow closely on X your case with Alberta Health and I root for you!
Best regards,

My Take...

61 year old Florida woman was diagnosed with Stage 4 Breast Cancer metastatic to lungs, liver, and bones.

Patient started Ivermectin and Fenbendazole 444mg at end of December 2024 breast mass continued to grow.

In early February 2025, patient started Ivermectin 120mg (2mg/kg) and Mebendazole 1000mg along with 6 cycles of Carboplatin + Paclitaxel

Within 2 months, tumor Shrunk from 8x7cm to 3.5x2.7cm (83% tumor shrinkage)

Oncologist: "He is so impressed with her treatment".

This is all so helpful! However, I am beyond frustrated that we have too fricking treat OURSEL because American oncologists are willfully ignorant about these off-label treatments!

Does anyone have testimonies of people in their 20-30s becoming cancer free with these rep drugs?
