Hello Dr Makis

My name is Santiago [REDACTED], I was diagnosed with colon cancer September last year. And even though i was clear from cancer even before finishing my radio and chemo therapy about 3 months ago in one of my follow up check up doctors found cancer had come back and " more aggressive " blocking 60% of my intestine lumen.

This is where you come in, a friend of mine share me your link in X. So long story short we decided not to follow doctors recommendations which was surgery and possibly more chemo and try ivermectine.

One month later I had another colonoscopy to find that the mas had reduce 67% and now was blocking only 20% of the intestine lumen.

Later I figure I was doing way less than the recommended dosage so decided to do another month on the right dosage (120mg)

I'm close to finish the month on treatment and hoping next check up I can see the mass completely gone.

My question to you is

1) I got ivermectin for horses to make it easier getting to the daily dose. I got this from Guatemala. Now I'm currently in Canada, wondering if I can get the same here? Maybe you can give me any information ?

2) is there a maintenance dose of ivermectine after I'm done?

Thank you in advance

Santiago

Thank you for your quick reply;

I was doing OVICID GEL, a 20 gr tube with ivermectin, praziquantel and fenbendazol. (See picture). I'm taking 17 of the 20 gr daily

Glad to hear you can get it here as well. Any website or place in particular ?

Another thing, I notice weird side effects after taking it.

Hard to explain but kind of light headed/ dizzy it would be several hours after taking it, and it would last for a while (1-2 hrs) and then goes away.

And it has been less as days go by.

Have you heard of any others noticing the same?

The friend I mention had to stop taking it because it really made him feel slower and dizzier.

But regardless in my case it has been working.

Even though that first month I was way under the recommended dose ! And still got it to reduce the size.

Thank you for your thoughts and comments

Hi;

I'm doing a month treatment on ivermectin for a mass in my colon I finish last week. I'm scheduled for a colonoscopy in a month.

Should I stay on the maintenance protocol dose (12mg 3 days / 4 days off) or keep doing the high dose I was doing for the last month until I confirm the mass has disappeared?

Hello Again !

Wanted to share with you great news.

Last week I had my Colonoscopy, after being on Ivy, for a total of four months. Since I was told Colon Cancer was back, more aggressive and the mass bigger than when initially diagnosed.

They (doctors) recommended surgery ASAP, 4 different doctors share the same diagnosis; surgery and very likely chemotherapy.

We decided to trust God and this new path to deal with cancer, and use Ivermectine.

After having a tumor blocking 60% of my intestine's lumen, the colonoscopy last week confirmed that the tumor was completely gone.

I wanted to share the short version of my story with you and whoever needs to hear it.

And thank you Dr Makis for all your research, and efforts, and sacrifices you have made to send the work out of this ground breaking discovery. You are changing lives, and impacting the world; may History remind you for years to come. God bless you!

This works, and God is good.

MY TAKE...

ORAL GEL OVI^Cid[®]

Ivermectine + Fenbendazole + Praziquantel

COMPOSITION

Every 100g of OVI ^C id contain:
Ivermectine.....	0,6 g
Praziquantel	7,5 g
Fenbendazole	22,5 g
Excipients c.s.p	100 g

Total protection against all stages of parasites.

Delicious Strawberry Flavor

DESCRIPTION

Endectoparasiticide of ample spectrum, formulated with Ivermectine, Fenbendazole and Praziquantel. Efficient against all stages of parasites including eggs of nematodes, cestodes and arthropods in equines, mules and donkeys.

INDICATIONS

For control of: Strongylus, Oxyuros, Ascarides, Trichostrongylus, Strongyloid, Filaires, Habronemiasis, Micronemas, Tapeworm, Gasterophiles, Rinoestrosis.

ADMINISTRATION AND USAGE

RECOMMENDATIONS:

Orally. Calibrate the ring on the syringe to the desired dose. Make sure the animal's snout does not contain food. Make sure the treated animal swallows the product.

DOSE

OVI^Cid must be applied in dose of 1 gr for every 30 kilos (1 mark/30gr). One syringe of OVI^Cid allows treatment of up to 600 kilos of animal weight.

PRODUCT ADVANTAGES:

- Most complete formula in the marketplace.
- Most effective against large number of nematodes, cestodes and arthropods.
- Greater concentration of Praziquantel for greater effect on Tapeworm.
- Complete formulation with Fenbendazole, against parasites in their early stages, and adults with special action on eggs: the product is an ovicide.
- Safe for in horses or foal of any age and pregnant mares keeping with indicated usage.
- Syringe in polypropylene with scale for precise doses.

Presentation:
Syringe: 20 grs.

Let's do some math.

Every 100g has 600mg IVM, 1g has 6mg, 17g has 102mg Ivermectin

Every 100g has 22500mg Fenben, 1g has 225mg, 17g has 3825mg Fenbendazole(!

Every 100g has 7500mg Praziquantel, 1g has 75mg, 17g has 1275mg Praziquante

These are very big doses. I'm going to double check those doses just to be sure.

This is a very FENBENDAZOLE Heavy Product!!

Another fantastic testimonial for IVM, FB, Prazi. There are several protocols in the UK, typically f the Joe Tippins protocol. 12 mg of ivermectin three times a day with 222 mg of Fenben three ti day. Depends if the treatment is for cancer or parasites on duration and breaks

Just wonderful to see peoples great news and recovery without following the standard narrativ poison or burn... I truly archaic and Draconian cancer treatment.

You are a true doctor/Healer Dr Makis and should be an inspiration to The Medical profession.

The 'war on Cancer' is being fought and won with your guidance. Why wouldn't an oncologist I these amazing low cost and effective treatments? or should I just say, follow the money, not the treatment...
